II EVALUATION OF COMPETENCE

SECTION C: READING COMPREHENSION (10marks)

Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow it.

FROM A WATER PHOBIC TO THE NAVY

Born and brought up in Manipur, Lt. Shougrakpham Vijaya Devi had a fascination of naval uniform since childhood. She is now one of the five members of the first women crew to circumnavigate the world from the Indian Navy. A post graduate from the University of Delhi in English Literature, she narrates how she landed up in the Indian Navy to Northeast Today.

I never thought that I will join the navy. After my post-graduation in English literature, I was pursuing my B.Ed. and came across the advertisement to join the Indian Navy. A post-graduation in English was necessary. So I applied for it without giving a second thought of getting selected or not. My mom was worried when I told her that I had to travel alone to Bhopal for Services Selection Board interview. I followed my instinct after giving all reasoning to my mom's doubt. Fortunately, I cleared all the procedures and here I am today. Being in the team of all women crew to circumnavigate the globe is a wonderful feeling. In the navy, women officers are never deployed at sea, as of now. It is for the first time ever in the world history that a team of women officers from any navy is venturing for circumnavigation; otherwise there are lots of women sailors who sail in the ocean around the world.

On March, 2015, we had a screening done in Goa and around 20 women officers from the navy volunteered. The screening was done on board INSV Mhadei under Captain Dilip Done (retired.) the first Indian to circumnavigate the globe. We were given exposure in sailing the boat and our opinions for the same were taken. After which the directorate had taken their decision in finalising the team. I never got a call directly that I have been selected. But after seven months, during Indian Navy sailing championship (INSA) at Mumbai I met Captain Ashwin Arvind, then INSA director. He asked me if I wanted to On March, 2015 circumnavigation. I told him that I had gone for screening but still haven't received a feedback, and eagerly waiting for the result; to which he said - 'Well then prepare yourself you are in the team, tell your parents and loved ones that you will be busy from now for a long time'

Before joining the service. I used to have water phobia and I am a motion sick person. I am a totally different person now. I learnt swimming during my training period at the Indian Naval Academy. When I joined the team and started sailing in the ocean the challenges which I had to overcome was that of sea sickness. I was the most sea sick person in the team. Initially, I could not eat anything, especially food cooked with butter or ghee and I depended on fresh fruits and vegetables. Feeling sleepy all the time is also one of the symptoms of sea sickness. We have done enough of training that now I don't feel any of these anymore.

Indeed it's a great learning experience. Circumnavigation has definitely changed my perspectives in life. I used to think the world is a small place but looking at the endless horizon of the sea during my recent travel to Mauritius and Cape Town, made me realise that the world doesn't end in just the mainland but there's the most intriguing part of the World that remains hidden in the depth of these oceans.
