Section C : READING COMPREHENSION

Dog attacks increasing

Read the passage bellow and answer the questions that follow it. Use complete sentences and as far as possible, your own words.

Several years ago, foreign dog breeds were reserved for the homes of foreigners and well-to-do Cameroonian families. Such houses whose gates and fences carried the sign : "Beware of wild dogs!" could only betray the ferocity of the dogs by the terrifying sounds of their barjs-echoing from behind walls.

Today, the rush by more households to possess German shepherds, pet-bulls, Rotheilers and hounds of all size and shapes among others,has become trendy. However, some owners know little about caring for such animals, hence the growing number of accidents recorded. The use of dogs by security companies is not also helping matters. In the economic capital city, Douala, two Rottweilers went on rampage at a secondary road in the Bonaberi neighborhood early on October 11, 2013 and mauled a jogging man to death. Thanks to bullets from a police patrol squad, the lives of the dog were terminated.The incident which is still beyond comprehension to many has provoked commentaries and similar stories in most nooks and crannies as it spreads.

A week before the Douala incident, along the Obili-Biyem-assi round about stretch of the road in Yaounde, a lady waiting for taxi by the roadside had part of her chest bitten off by a hound. Its head was sticking out of a passing cage. Containing at least ten hound. Its head was sticking out of a passing cage. Containing at least ten hounds belonging to a well-known security company.

Another lady Sidonie Fonly had her eyes to cry sometimes in 2011 when she returned to her Bastos neighborhood home in Yaounde from the market only to find her German licking up the last traces of blood of something. She later found out it was her little baby she had left sleeping in the cot. Sidonie had not respected the dog's feeding time, prompting the latter to walk around and into the house, looking for something to eat. Finding the baby awake in the cot, the dog did not hesitate to do what the woman, who had spent years"looking"for a baby, least expected.

Still in 2011, precisely on January 12, a certain Amougou had his back leg bitten of by his own dog, in his own home in the Messassi neighborhood of Yaounde. The returned home late a night, sharing few bottles of drinks with friend, the dog barked ferociously, but he kept on advancing, saying it was after all his dog. The dog attacked this master mercilessly, inflicting serious injuries
